Creating an RSS Feed for Updates from the Editorial Team

What is an RSS Feed

An RSS (Really Simple Syndication) Feed is a tool that enables you to receive new online content directly to your email without having to visit a website first. When you subscribe to an RSS Feed, new posts will be sent to your RSS Feed Reader as soon as the posts are published. This means that anytime new articles or posts are available, they are automatically sent to your RSS Feed Reader, providing a streamlined way to stay informed with minimal effort.

Westlaw Middle East offers the ability to subscribe to an RSS Feed, ensuring that you are promptly notified of new editorial pieces. To start utilising an RSS Feed, you must select and install an RSS Feed Reader. These readers are available in various forms, including browser extensions. You can therefore install an RSS Reader plugin within your preferred internet browser. Search your preferred browser to select and download an RSS Feed Reader plugin of your choice. Examples include:

1. Chrome: RSS Feed Readers
2. FireFox: RSS Feed Readers
3. Microsoft Edge: RSS Feed Readers
